BERLIN FACES BOMB ATTACKS

British Mapping Revenge For Punishment of London

(By Associated Press) LONDON, July 10.—The increasing flow of American-made bombs soon will enable Britain to exact manifold retaliation on Berlin for the German bombardment of London, Britain's new minister of aircraft production, Lieut.-Col. J. T. C. Moore-Brabazon, declared today.

It will not be many months, he said, before Berlin hears the sirens of such attacks.

"These famous Wednesday and Saturday nights (when London was heavily bombed) will be child's play, compared with the raids we will be able to make on Berlin," he said.

More Coming Over Speaking for the government in today's installment of house of commons debate on arms production, Moore-Brabazon said, "we are getting more and more modern weight-carrying bombers and also big ones. I finally hope to get every single machine from the United States by air."

A member of parliament released from the army to organize a parliamentary right for greater arms production declared that "thousands upon thousands" of British imperial soldiers had been left to die or be captured in the Middle East because they "were denied weapons with which to defend themselves."

The member, James Henderson Stewart, a liberal national from Scotland, referred to a statement yesterday by a lieutenant of the fleet air arm who escaped from a plane in a battered plane and appeared in uniform before parliament to tell of the defense lack in Crete.

No Military Secret "I am giving away no military secrets when I say that the account given in debate yesterday by Lieutenant Brabner of the shortage of guns and tanks is abundantly true," Stewart said.

HOUSE APPROVES DEFERMENT OF 28'S

WASHINGTON, July 10.—The house approved tentatively today legislation providing for the mandatory deferment from military training of men who were 28 years or older on July 1 and who have not been drafted.

Then the members started discussing an amendment by Rep. Elston (R., Ohio) to permit men 28 or older who have been inducted into service to be discharged upon their own request.

The draft deferment provision was accepted without a formal vote and with little debate.

TAFT HINTS BASES LOOM IN IRELAND

Hits Iceland Occupation Without Permission of Congress

WASHINGTON, July 10.—Senator Taft (R., Ohio) told the senate today that he had heard weeks ago "on reliable authority that the United States was constructing a naval air base for Great Britain in northern Ireland."

"Since I made the first draft of this speech," Taft added in an address, "Mr. Wendell Willkie, after a call upon the President, announced that in his opinion we should establish military bases both in northern Ireland and Scotland."

"The occupation of Ireland would relieve perhaps a half-million British troops for service elsewhere, and put a half-million American boys into the British islands."

"A base in Ireland would be much more effective to protect shipping than a base in Iceland. Every argument that has been used for the occupation of Iceland applies to Ireland and England and Portugal."

Taft contended that the landing of United States troops in Iceland was an act "exactly equivalent to aggressive war" and one which the President had no right to take without authority from congress.

ARRANGE FUNERAL FOR DR. F. L. GIBBS

Dr. F. L. Gibbs of Chillicothe died Thursday morning, July 3, in a hospital in that city, where he had made his home for the last 45 years.

Born in Salem June 6, 1871, the son of John and Sallie Heacock Gibbs, he was graduated from Salem High school in 1890 and, following his graduation, was employed as bookkeeper by the Mullins Co. for a number of years before taking up the study of medicine.

He was graduated from Pulte medical college in Cincinnati, and located in Chillicothe 45 years ago. There he practiced until ill health forced him to give up his practice about 30 years ago. For the last 20 years he has been manager of the Gibbs book shop there.

Dr. Gibbs, who served as Chillicothe city treasurer for 16 years, was a candidate for office in the Republican primaries in August. He was a member of all Masonic bodies in Chillicothe and of the Royal Neighbors.

His wife died two years ago. Funeral service will be held at 4 p. m. Saturday at the Arbaugh-Pearce funeral home, in charge of Rev. Carl Asmus, Methodist pastor. Burial will be in Hope cemetery.

Three Motorists Fined

Three motorists arrested yesterday by Salem state highway patrolmen drew fines in Mayor Norman Phillips' court.

John Hampu of Alliance and Harold E. Secrest of Summitville were fined $10 and costs each on charges of reckless driving. Nick Fenchla of Canton was fined $10 and costs on a charge of speeding.

STAND PAT ON DRAFT RULING

Congress Leaders Advise Delay On Proposed Change In Scope

WASHINGTON, July 10.—The selective service bill against the draft of trainees outside the western hemisphere appeared likely today to remain unchanged for the present, despite the recommendation of the army general staff.

Authoritative reports were that congressional leaders have advised President Roosevelt that they cannot win approval at this time for the necessary legislation.

Agrees With Marshall Well-advised informants said that Mr. Roosevelt was inclined to agree with the recommendation of General George C. Marshall, the chief of staff, that both trainees and national guardsmen be made legally available for duty outside of the hemisphere, should the need arise.

The president nevertheless decided against seeking action for the present in view of the adverse congressional outlook. He was represented, however, as interested in several plans which would permit a certain number of trainees to be inducted into the regular army for a longer period than the present one-year term.

Any action on these plans, however, appeared unlikely before July 17—the date which selective service headquarters fixed yesterday for the lottery here that will determine the order in which the 750,000 young men who registered July 1 will be subject to call for training.

The two-hour job seen The lottery will be a miniature edition of the first selective service drawing last October, when the service sequence of 16,500,000 was involved. The same glass jar will be used, but the ceremonies will be simpler and officials expect the drawing to be completed in two hours.

As far as could be learned, the reports of congressional leaders to President Roosevelt on the possibility of selective service act changes dealt only with the ban on using trainees or guardsmen outside the hemisphere, and not with General Marshall's companion recommendation that the army be authorized to keep both classes of troops in service longer than the present legal limit of one year. This companion proposal, however, has aroused strong opposition in congress.

LISBON PLANNING ALUMINUM DRIVE

LISBON, July 10.—Mayor G. C. Rauch today appointed J. Homer Browne, commander of John Welsh post, American Legion, to direct the "aluminum drive" in Lisbon and vicinity. The drive over the state and nation to collect the needed metal will be made during the week of July 21, and Commander Browne will outline within a few days his plans for the "aluminum shower" in Lisbon and vicinity.

The purpose of the drive will be to collect aluminum from every home in the community, pans, kettles and everything constructed of this metal which is needed by the government for defense purposes.

County Extension Agent Floyd Lower has been appointed by the county commissioners as chairman of the general county campaign for the collection of the aluminum pans, kettles and any other kitchen articles which are badly needed by the government. It is expected that Boy Scouts will aid.

Governor Will Speak

COLUMBUS, July 10.—Gov. John W. Bricker will address a "Citizenship day" picnic sponsored by the State Employees' league at the state fairgrounds July 18, Chairman Hal G. Sours, state highway director, announced.

REDS CRUSH GERMAN DIVISION; NAZIS SILENT ON ANY GAINS

SOLONS SPLIT ON QUESTION OF 'SHOOTING'

Orders to U. S. Iceland Fleet Prompt Capital Hill Arguments

HAS IT HAPPENED ALREADY? IS QUERY

Secretary Knox Refers Only to President's Own Language

(By Associated Press) WASHINGTON, July 10.—The top question in the capital today was whether the Atlantic fleet got shooting orders when the United States began its protective occupation of Iceland.

It revived the recurrent earlier question whether shooting already had occurred, and the senate naval committee met to decide whether sufficient grounds existed for an investigation of previously denied reports of clashes between U. S. naval patrols and Nazi sea raiders.

The discussion also included Wendell L. Willkie's advocacy of American bases in Scotland and northern Ireland, and the disagreement in Capitol Hill over the propriety of Senator Wheeler (D-Mont.) in recasting the occupation of Iceland in advance—an action criticized by Britain's prime minister, Winston Churchill.

Shooting Hinted The opinion of many legislators was that Secretary of Navy Knox had plainly implied that the Atlantic fleet had orders to open fire if necessary to deal with hostile activity along the United States communication lines at sea, even though he carefully avoided use of the word "shooting."

Knox informed newsmen that President Roosevelt had instructed the navy what to do if it became necessary to shoot in order to protect the Atlantic approaches to U. S. bases from "hostile activity or threat thereof," as Mr. Roosevelt phrased it.

Knox referred specifically to the passage in Mr. Roosevelt's message to congress on the occupation of Iceland, which read: "I have consequently issued orders to the navy that all necessary steps be taken to insure the safety of communication in the approaches between Iceland and the United States, as well as on the seas between Iceland and the United States, as well as on the seas between the United States and other strategic outposts."

The navy secretary firmly declined to place any interpretation of his own on the passage.

Avoids Definite Term Like Knox, Willkie avoided the word "shooting" in an interview yesterday after a luncheon talk with the President. He termed it essential to keep the sea lanes to Britain open and warmly endorsed the occupation of Iceland as a step in the right direction.

The subject of previous shooting reports was raised when Chairman Walsh (D., Mass.) announced he would ask the senate naval committee to decide whether they warranted a formal inquiry.

Walsh called a meeting for the express purpose of voting on a resolution introduced by Senator Wheeler for an investigation of published reports that vessels in the Atlantic patrol had had brushes with German naval units.

Willkie discussed the occupation of Iceland informally at some length after leaving the White House yesterday, but emphasized he was expressing only his own views.

Their Feet Are Sore Because the General Was Angry

These soldiers of the 110th Quartermaster regiment of the Second army have sore feet. They should have, for they were forced to hike 15 miles on a hot Tennessee road—all because they whistled and shouted at some pretty girls playing golf, in shorts, and told a man they saw on the course he needed a caddy. The man, it turned out, was Lieut. Gen. Ben Lear, commander of the Second army. To the general, the soldiers' action was disgraceful and he ordered the march as a penalty.

OHIO DEMOCRATS HIT HARMONY NOTE

Plan Program Which "All Groups Can and Will Support"

(By Associated Press) COLUMBUS, July 10.—Upon the basis of an agreement that settled the two major issues, Ohio's long-divided Democratic party re-united today to build a program which one leader said "all groups can and will support."

Meeting with Charles Sawyer at the national committeeman's Clinton county farm, leaders from all elements of the party agreed that: "All federal patronage in Ohio not allocated to Democratic representatives shall be managed by a committee of three, and that a single headquarters shall replace offices now maintained by the state and national units."

Sawyer said in an announcement following the conference that the patronage committee would consist of himself, National Committeewoman Mildred Jaster and Albert Horstman, chairman of the state central committee. Sawyer said he often had offered to step out of the patronage picture, but was agreeable to serving on a three-member committee.

Distribution of patronage in Ohio has been a big issue since last year when Vice Donahay retired and left Ohio without a Democratic senator.

Agreement upon a single headquarters was reached, Sawyer said, after he conferred with J. Freer Bittinger, chairman of the state executive committee, and Horstman. The national chairman said that his headquarters would be moved "into a joint headquarters office in any location and under any arrangement approved by Mrs. Bittinger and Mrs. Jaster."

He added, however, that under this new arrangement finances would be under the direction of Clarence E. Motz of Akron, named by National Chairman Edward J. Flynn as finance director for Ohio.

Bittinger—named executive chairman by former Gov. Martin L.

Soldiers Must Be Gentlemen, General Replies To Critics

Seeks High Standards

(By Associated Press) MEMPHIS, Tenn., July 10.—Stern-visaged Lieut. Gen. Ben Lear has replied to congressional criticism of the penance march he ordered for 300-hoofing troops with a declaration that as long as he remains Second army commander "solidly standards of conduct will be demanded of all individuals in uniform."

Gen. Lear telegraphed Rep. Kilgus (D-Tex.), members of a special house subcommittee investigating personnel matters in the defense program, who yesterday wired Lear he contemplated a resolution to investigate Lear's "severe punishment" of some 350 soldiers for yelling at golfers as they passed through Memphis Sunday.

Lear's response was released last night by Second army headquarters here. It said, in part: "I am responsible for the training of all elements of the (Second) army and for raising all elements to the highest attainable standards of conduct and combat efficiency. Nothing less will secure this country's successful defense against thoroughly disciplined, trained and efficiently led hostile forces in case we are attacked."

"Loose conduct and rowdiness cannot be tolerated. I am responsible also that members of the Second army treat the civilian population with respect and consideration."

"The message added the conduct of the group punished with a 150-mile march from Memphis to Camp Robinson, Ark., partly at foot, was in marked contrast to the soldierly and gentlemanly behavior of the vast majority of men" in the recent Tennessee maneuvers.

Criticized By Dicksen Lear was also criticized in the house yesterday by Rep. Dicksen (R-Ill.), who commented on "grouchy, golfing old generals."

Lear was on the golf course in Murfreesboro when the troops in the 35th division shouted at shorts-clad girls and one called "hey, buddy, want a caddy?" at him.

Rep. Kilgus's message made reference to "strong evidence of your personal displeasure and desire for revenge." Gen. Lear pointed out to reporters that he was in civilian clothes at the time and apparently unrecognized by the soldiers.

NEW ANESTHETIC DEVICE USED HERE

Salem City hospital is now equipped with a new type machine for giving anesthetics.

Known as the Augustana model of safety gas machine, the apparatus provides for an easier anesthesia for patients. The patient is able to go to sleep much easier and quicker. The recovery, likewise, is rapid, with no after effects.

The machine, presented by Dr. Paul Corso, uses one or more of six gases, including oxygen, ether, helium, carbon dioxide, nitrous oxide and cyclopropane.

CALLS ON AXIS TO FREE AMERICANS

U. S. Officials To Detain Europeans If Request Is Not Honored

(By Associated Press) WASHINGTON, July 10.—The United States has taken action to obtain the immediate repatriation of Americans held prisoners by the Nazis or detained in Germany, Italy and Nazi-conquered Europe.

The state department, it was learned authoritatively today, has implicitly warned Germany and Italy that unless Americans held as "retaliation hostages" in Nazi-Europe are freed and granted exit permits no German or Italian nationals will be permitted to leave this country.

The alien registration showed approximately 660,000 Italians and 330,000 Germans now living in the United States, in contrast to the few thousand Americans still in Germany, Italy or Axis-dominated countries. A large proportion of the Germans and Italians here were reported to have applied for American citizenship, however.

The possible detention of Axis aliens here would not affect the German and Italian consular officials and employees who have been ordered by President Roosevelt to leave the United States by July 15.

Immediate action is desired, it was learned, so that some of the Americans may return to the United States on board the West Point, formerly the luxury liner America, which soon will make a round trip across the Atlantic.

The vessel will sail from New York July 15 with several hundred German and Italian consular officials, their families, and employees of official Nazi and Fascist organizations, and on the return voyage will bring home American consular officers and employees requested to leave Germany, Italy, occupied France, Belgium, The Netherlands, Greece, Yugoslavia, Czechoslovakia, Denmark and Norway.

BOY'S CONDITION IS STILL SERIOUS

Donald Wayne Dickson, 15, of Petersburg, who was shot in the chest and left arm early yesterday morning by a Po and hardware store merchant's son, remained in serious condition today at Salem City hospital.

Marshall Clark Wagner and Mahoning county deputies are continuing their investigation of the shooting.

According to the officers, the youth was shot when he and a brother, David, 17, refused to obey a command to halt after having been surprised at the side of the store. James Johnston, Jr., fired the shotgun charge which struck Donald, police said. A rifle shot allegedly fired by one of the boys went wild. A shot fired by elder Johnston entered the rear of the boys' car.

MOSCOW SAYS SOVIET UNITS HOLDING FAST

Berlin Radio Claims Nazis Have Taken Section Of Stalin Line

HUNGARY REPORTS MANY PRISONERS

French, Yielding In Syria, Says Armistice Plea Not Answered

(By Associated Press) Annihilation of a German motorized division of some 15,000 men in the blocking of Nazi drives toward Moscow and Leningrad was reported by the Russians today, while the German high command again hid details of the titanic battle raging along a 2,000-mile front.

On the vital 300-mile central front, a Soviet war bulletin declared Red army troops were inflicting terrible losses on the invaders and holding fast.

Capture Five Bombers The Berlin radio asserted Nazi engineer shock troops had stormed and captured five heavy bombers of the Stalin line after "bitter fighting," and claimed destruction of 110 Soviet warplanes.

Moreover, the radio said, German columns advancing against the Stalin defense system had destroyed 123 Russian panzer units "and put the rest to flight."

In the south, the Hungarian high command reported the capture of 25,000 Soviet prisoners by German and Hungarian troops knifing into Galicia.

The Germans, silent on any specific gains, declared the world's two largest armies were now fighting a decisive battle, and a Berlin newspaper asserted: "Not until now have the great masses of the armies come into deployment."

Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler's field headquarters, issuing its third terse communique in succession on the 19-day-old war with Russia, declared: "Operations in the east are progressing relentlessly."

Salla Is Captured The Nazi high command also confirmed the capture of Salla, fortified Russian town on the Finnish border, after a Red army division was said to have been "crushed" in several days of fighting.

Meanwhile, the Middle East conflict flamed into action again amid a jumble of confusion. A French spokesman in Vichy declared the British had not replied to France's request for an armistice in the month-old battle of Syria, except with increased military assaults and attacks on the military honor.

COLUMBIANA MAN DIES AT BALL GAME

Alfred E. Johns, 53, founder of Johns and Sons Medicine Manufacturers of Columbiana, collapsed from excitement during the Youngstown Browns-Akron Yankees game at Idora park, Youngstown, last night and died a few minutes later of a heart attack.

Johns founded his medicine business 12 years ago and operated it on a nation-wide scale with other members of the family helping in the manufacturing and distribution.

An ardent sports fan, he supported amateur baseball and bowling teams in Columbiana.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Johns, he was born in Youngstown Jan. 19, 1888. He came to Columbiana four years ago from Pittsburgh. He married Miss Bessie Merl in April 23, 1913, in Youngstown.

Mr. Johns was a member of the Emmanuel Lutheran church in Pittsburgh.

He is survived by his widow; one daughter, Mrs. Fred Beglan of Portsmouth, Va.; one son, William J. Johns of Columbiana; three grandchildren; five sisters, Mrs. Elizabeth Morgan of Columbiana, Mrs. Rachel Roloff, Mrs. David Williams, Mrs. William Bramley, Mrs. Jack H. Johnston, all of Youngstown; three brothers, Elsworth, Harry, James H., all of Youngstown; and two half-brothers, David Phillips of York, Pa., and Reese Phillips, of Leavittsburg.

The funeral will be at 2:30 p. m. Saturday at the home, Rev. C. J. Sutorius officiating. Interment will be in Lake park cemetery in Youngstown.

Friends may call at the home at any time.

PUBLICITY HELPED

Sing Sing prison, most publicized penal institution in the country, is losing its warden, Lewis E. Lawes, who is retiring voluntarily July 15. A successor, Robert J. Kirby, already has been named.

As the frequently publicized head of a much publicized prison, Warden Lawes accomplished something that will be of material benefit to Americans for many years to come. He taught them to take penology seriously.

He was humane in his approach to his job. He regarded the men in his charge as material to be kept safely and returned to use, if possible. He was by no means a coddler, but as much as any single man he destroyed the idea that prison keeping and brutality are one and the same thing. To whatever extent, penal problems have been solved in the last 20 years, the publicity Warden Lawes gained for a practical, humane approach must be given a large part of the credit.

THOSE CANVAS TANKS

It's not necessary to believe it to be cheered up by Russia's report that Germany is using an occasional canvas tank to pad out its tank columns. True or not, the rumor suggests that imagination still hasn't been outlawed from war. There still are men who can think of the possibility of a canvas tank anyway. It's encouraging.

Sometimes it has looked as though the art of working on the other fellow's imagination had been whittled down to such tawdry ruses as whistling bombs and sirens on dive bombers. Sturdy old stunts like shouting orders to imaginary soldiers and sticking wooden cannon barrels through gun ports seemed to be outlawed. Canvas tanks—floats—would be a kind of redemption for ingenuity as opposed to brute force. If one ever actually is discovered, it would be more worth preserving as a memento than the real thing.

SLIGHTLY AWKWARD

Gen. Marshall's recommendation that restrictions on the use of selectees and national guardsmen be lifted just in case an emergency arose in which it would be inadvisable to reveal military plans in congressional debate is being snubbed pointedly by a good many congressmen.

This is a slightly awkward situation for the congressmen. While they are insisting on keeping selectees and guardsmen safe in the good old western hemisphere, or at the most in American possessions, they have no objection to letting members of the regular army and marines go wherever they may be needed.

As the ordinary citizen understands these things, all wearers of the uniform of the nation's armed forces are supposed to be treated alike. Some are in service under one arrangement, some under another, but all of them are working for the same boss in a democratic army.

It would be a more than slightly ludicrous situation if the United States army should be restrained from fighting where it was needed by a legality some day.

TRANSITION

Heavy thinkers are beginning to groan under the apprehension that all of us soon will be painfully aware of transition from an economy of peace to an economy of war. This, they fear, will be something like finding out there isn't any Santa Claus. The American people will stretch out wherever the bad news overtakes them, kick their heels on the floor and scream.

Some of them may do that very thing. Most of them may grumble and throw dirty looks in all directions. They may threaten to beat the brains, if any, out of the officeholders and jobholders who were at the scene of the crime, so to speak. But on the other hand it's entirely possible nothing will happen at all.

Transitions rarely are as abrupt or painful as heavy thinkers imagine they're going to be. At the same time, it usually turns out that the people affected are a lot more philosophic about transitions than heavy thinkers are able to foresee with their own limited vision of the nobility and general resiliency of mankind under stress and strain. After all, the people have had lots of experience with transitions.

Nothing seems safer than predicting that Americans will take whatever comes pretty much in their stride, exercising their sacred prerogative of muttering against the powers-that-be but continuing to proceed on the general principle that of all the powers-that-be they are the greatest. Therefore, if something has to be done that takes some doing, the sooner it gets out of the blueprint and into the doing stage, the better.

If any heavy thinker thinks it won't be this way, one dollar will get him five that he's wrong.

TOUGHER THAN EXPECTED

The experts are still warning against premature conclusions about the Russo-German war, but no one seems to doubt that the Hitlerites are finding the Stalinites a little tougher to push around than they expected. Whether this may be like Joe Louis finding an opponent tougher than expected but still disposing of him without undue trouble remains to be seen.

In the meantime there is a good excuse for remembering this week that it has been four years since Japan adopted a policy of aggression and began to conquer China. Theoretically, China was going to be a pushover. It was without a well organized government. It had no navy, no air force, no united army. Nor did it have any dream of destiny. It wasn't going anywhere.

What China did have that the Japanese militarists underestimated was tremendous will to resist.

With that as a foundation to build on it has resisted four years and at the beginning of the fifth year shows no signs of weakening. The Chinese have worn out the invaders with resistance, both active and passive. The Japanese apparently lack strength to go forward any further. China can't repulse them, but neither can they conquer China. And today, with unity forged out of adversity, China shows signs of going somewhere.

Something of the kind happened to the Germans from 1914 until the Russian revolution in World War I. The Russians lacked almost everything except the will to resist, and they had enough of that to keep Germany from putting its full strength on the western front until the Allied powers there were too strong to be beaten. The epitaph on the tomb of every military failure in history is the same: Tougher Than Expected.

THE STARS SAY:

For Friday, July 11

THE GENERAL trend of events on this day, according to the adverse astral influences, may be toward the difficult and dangerous. A disintegrating and undermining force is possibly at work, thwarting and frustrating even the best-laid plans and well thought out objectives. There are signs of misinterpretation, fraud and trickery and sinister and stubborn obstacles as well as sudden and unlooked for upsets and delays. These may be fundamental and deeprooted, and would not be vanquished or remedied by superficial, impetuous or erratic caution, make decisions slowly and preserve the health. There may be an unexpected social or romantic adventure, to compensate.

Those whose birthday it is may be called upon to cope with a sudden, deeprooted and tenacious obstacle to their cherished plans, with surprising upheaval, delay or other disintegrating visitation. Winning out against this will require sound reasoning, deep study of underlying impediments and slow decisions, as erratic, rash and impulsive moves would be disastrous. Check nervous tension, husband resources and be comforted and strengthened by a surprising social, domestic or emotional visitation. Keep alert to fraud and treachery in all business relations.

A child born on this day may have much originality and profound talents, but may be subject to frustration and reversals, with nervous tension and perhaps erratic temperament, unless given careful supervision in early life.

Progress Is Made In Prevention of Disease

BY LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
Infantile paralysis is one of the few contagious diseases that prevail more in the summertime than the winter. And a number of recent speculations and observations seem to indicate a reason for this.

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

For a good many years health officers and epidemiologists generally have had a hunch that an attack of infantile paralysis has something to do with swimming, or bathing outdoors in river, lake or ocean.

I had an experienced health officer once argue with me, or rather explain to me, for hours, that chilling of the body in cold water caused it. He was a thoroughly modern physician, not a crank, and he knew perfectly well, of course, that some kind of a germ causes such diseases, but he felt that exposure and cold water precipitated the attack, and he cited several instances to prove it.

Paralysis and Exercise
Some support for this view was officially given by Dr. Albert Bruce Sabin, of Cincinnati, to the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis this spring.

Dr. Sabin put the idea more broadly and warned against violent exercise of any kind in the summer when one has a headache, a stiff neck or nausea. The virus of infantile paralysis may invade the nervous system and cause only these vague symptoms. A mild case may be overcome by body resistance without the development of any paralysis, if rest and care are instituted. But exercise may stir up the virus, spread it through the nervous system and precipitate a real attack.

Another explanation which applies to swimming alone is offered in the work of Drs. Paul and Trask, of New Haven, Connecticut, that the virus of infantile paralysis is found in sewage and that bathing in contaminated river, lake or ocean water will expose an individual to contagion. Several epidemics have been studied in which it could be proved that the victims were so exposed and that water near the outlet of a sewer was responsible.

Three Investigation Periods
There have been three periods in the investigation of the transmission of infantile paralysis. First was the work represented by the studies of Claverly and Wickman that pointed to direct human contact with persons having a mild form of the disease as a mode of transmission—and undoubtedly this obtains.

Second, the contributions of Landsteiner and Flexner and associates show that direct transmission could be made experimentally to monkeys. And third, this epidemiologic study which indicates that infantile paralysis may often be a water-borne disease.

Nearly every summer there is a local mild or severe epidemic somewhere in the United States or Canada. Perhaps with this new knowledge in hand, Boards of Health will be in a better position to engage in active preventive work.

Questions and Answers
A. E. C.:—"I have heard that high blood pressure is caused by certain foods, others say it is due to nervousness, fear worry. Which is true?"
Answer: It is not due to foods because we often see two people—man and wife—who eat the same food, and one has high blood pressure, the other hasn't. Nor is it due to worry, etc. Some of the earliest people I know have high blood pressure. It is due to changes in the blood vessels that come with advancing life. In some people these changes come earlier and are more severe than in others.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Dr. Clendening has seven pamphlets which can be obtained by readers. Each pamphlet sells for 10 cents. For any one pamphlet desired, send 10 cents in coin, and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp, to Dr. Logan Clendening, 235 E. 45th st., New York. The pamphlets are: "Three Weeks Reducing Diet," "Indigestion and Constipation," "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes," "Feminine Hygiene," and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

Cooking Mind of Men
Termed "Single Track"

EAST LANSING, Mich.—A man can cook equally as well as a woman, but his mind runs on a single track when he's near a kitchen. Michigan State college authorities report.

State's home economic department teachers, rated among the nation's best, say that a man invades the pot and pan sanctuary only to "whip out a specialty." The tedious business of preparing a meal—the shopping and peeling and cleaning—he invariably leaves to the "little woman," the educators say.

Prof. Marie Dye, dean of the home economics department, attributes this passion for a single concoction to the fact that cooking is relatively a new field for men and that it gives them a chance to use their imagination.

BLACK WITH WHITE ALWAYS SLIM AND SMART

Left, cross-barred black crepe dress; center, black chiffon dinner gown; right, black sheer

The ever chic and slimming black dress is an important item in mid-season collections. Combined with white this fashion may put all the bright colors in the accessory class for town wear. In case you are fond of color, you can wear gay costume jewelry with your black and white. Mona Maris, left, has chosen a barred black crepe dress with bias cut skirt and yoked top. The collar is faced with white pique, the hat is off-white lined in black, and white gloves are worn. Joan Leslie, center, wears a black chiffon dinner dress with trimly turned collar and cuffs of white organdie and huge leafy appliques of the same fabric on the skirt. Quilted white satin leaves are encrusted on the organdie. Ida Lupino, right, models a black sheer dress that is accented with white pique collar and cuffs and has a tucked skirt. The dip-brimmed sailor has a white crown and black brim and is trimmed with stiffened black and white ribbon.

Germans Pressing Toward Leningrad

By DEWITT MACKENZIE (Special News Service)

Hitler's forces in invasion in Russia—ever probing the attenuated Stalin line in an effort to find a weak spot in that great barrier—have suddenly renewed their assaults against the northern front toward Leningrad and claim progress, although the Bolsheviks assert that they are holding.

Should the Nazis succeed in reaching this goal they would have achieved a victory of incalculable importance. They would have (1) virtually severed the Russian connection with the Baltic sea; (2) secured a vital port and railroad for themselves on the Baltic; and (3) effected a turning movement against the northern end of the Stalin line somewhat similar to that which caused the fall of the famous Maginot line in France.

Meanwhile we have a less spectacular but still major development in Syria, where the French have asked the British for armistice terms which London expects to be accepted.

The Allied requirements for cessation of the combined British and Free French drive into Syria presumably are such that if they are agreed to they will give Britain control of this strategic territory which Nazism has tried to secure and would give much to possess.

This would represent a triumph for the Allied cause.

The French mandated country is the pivot upon which turn vast political and military issues. The full forces of the success may not register itself immediately but it is likely to have a great influence on the outcome of the war.

Syria dominates the route which the Germans had hoped to take for an attack on Egypt and the Suez canal from the Near East. In fact, if the British get it they will have added a mighty bulwark to their entire defense of the eastern Mediterranean.

Mrs. Alice Stright

Her face revealing her tragedy, Mrs. Alice Stright, of Stamford, Conn., is shown as she awaited news of her husband, Robert, and their two-year-old baby daughter, Carol Ann. Police dropped a hunt over Long Island Sound and turned inland when two clam diggers revealed a man answering Stright's description sold them his boat.

Happy Relief From Painful Backache

Many of those gnawing, nagging, painful backaches people suffer from are often caused by tired kidneys—and may be relieved when treated in the right way. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes wash out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes wash out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Davey—and the national committee maintained separate offices during the 1940 campaign, when Davey lost his attempt to win a third term. Sawyer defeated Davey for the gubernatorial nomination in 1938 after a battle that left the party split wide open.

Yesterday's conference, Sawyer said, left the feeling that party leaders, "regardless of past differences and personal interests, are determined to subordinate all other considerations to the single purpose of developing a program which all groups can and will support."

LISBON, July 10.—The Daily Vacation Church school for children between the ages of 4 and 13 will open on Monday, July 21. Registration day will be Friday, July 18, from 2 to 4 o'clock in the basement of the Presbyterian church.

The school is sponsored by the Presbyterian, Methodist, Nazarene, Christian and United Presbyterian churches, and will be divided into four departments, beginners, primary, junior and intermediate departments. Mrs. O. C. Caldwell is superintendent of the school. The following teachers will assist her: Miss Vic Muntean, Mrs. Gallard Hall, Mrs. Clayton Hunter, Richard Amos, Mrs. Theodore Cord, Mrs. Carl Bowman, Mrs. Richard Amos, Miss Marian Northup, Miss Janet Franz, Mrs. Paul Flugan, Mrs. J. W. Robinson, Mrs. Fred Bott, Miss Geraldine Franz and Miss Eleanor Hildebrand.

Bus Driver Arrested

BATAVIA, July 10.—Sherman Townsend, 46-year-old Greyhound bus driver, has been ordered to appear in Squire J. W. Strimple's court at Withamsville July 17 to answer charges of reckless driving, growing out of a bus-auto collision near here last night.

State Highway Patrolman Carl Whipple accused Townsend of trying to steer his bus, carrying 29 passengers, around a car on a hill. The bus, Whipple said, crashed into the front of the auto, but no one was injured seriously. Townsend lives at Portsmouth.

Lisbon Will Hold Canning Program

Women throughout Columbiana county can look forward to a county canning demonstration meeting Wednesday, July 16, at Lisbon High school, from 10 a. m. until 4:30 p. m. Miss Betty Falck, who has been working through the West Virginia extension service and in co-operation with the Hazel-Atlas Glass company, will be present for this canning meeting.

She is a home economics graduate of the University of West Virginia and a teacher for the past three years in Smith-Hughes work. The following program is planned: "Helpful Hints for the Home Gardener," John Strausbaugh, assistant county extension agent.

Round table discussion, "Buying of Foods," Mrs. Sonda Siegel, instructor W. P. A. adult education classes.

"Superstitions in planting," Mrs. Ed. Stroecker.

"Storing of Vegetables," Miss Ardis Matz, home supervisor, Farm Security Administration.

The afternoon session will open at 1 p. m. with a short talk on "Essential Foods for a Healthful Diet," by Mrs. Jennie Calhoun, public health nurse, Wellsville.

During the afternoon, Miss Falck will demonstrate modern methods in canning of vegetables and will answer questions homemakers may have concerning their canning problems. She will also have on exhibit vegetables and fruits necessary for the family's canning budget.

This meeting is being sponsored by Miss Edith McMichael, supervisor, W. P. A. housekeeping aid project, chairman; Mrs. Grace Adamson, Mrs. Mabel Rothwell, Mrs. Sonda Siegel, instructors in W. P.

A adult education classes; Miss Martha McMeister and Mrs. Hilda Bender, of the division of aid for dependent children; Erma Ramsey, home demonstration agent; and Miss Ardis Matz, home supervisor, Farm security Administration.

War Briefs

(By Associated Press)
ROME, July 10.—Renewal of British air attacks on Italy proper after a lapse of many weeks was reported today by the Italian high command—a low-level daylight thrust at Syracuse and a blow by night at Naples which resulted in 14 civilians killed and 30 injured.

LONDON, July 10.—Flying through banks of fog, RAF bombers and fighters swept back across the English channel again today and explosions soon were heard from the French coast.
The daylight raid followed overnight attacks by the RAF against Aachen and Osnabruck in western Germany and the French coast.

HELSINKI, July 10.—Finnish and German forces, claiming penetrations of more than 35 miles into Soviet territory, have reported meeting little Russian resistance in thrusts eastward toward the Murmansk-Leningrad rail line.
A Finnish communiqué last night said five Soviet villages had been occupied and Red army counter attacks repelled "with heavy losses to the enemy".

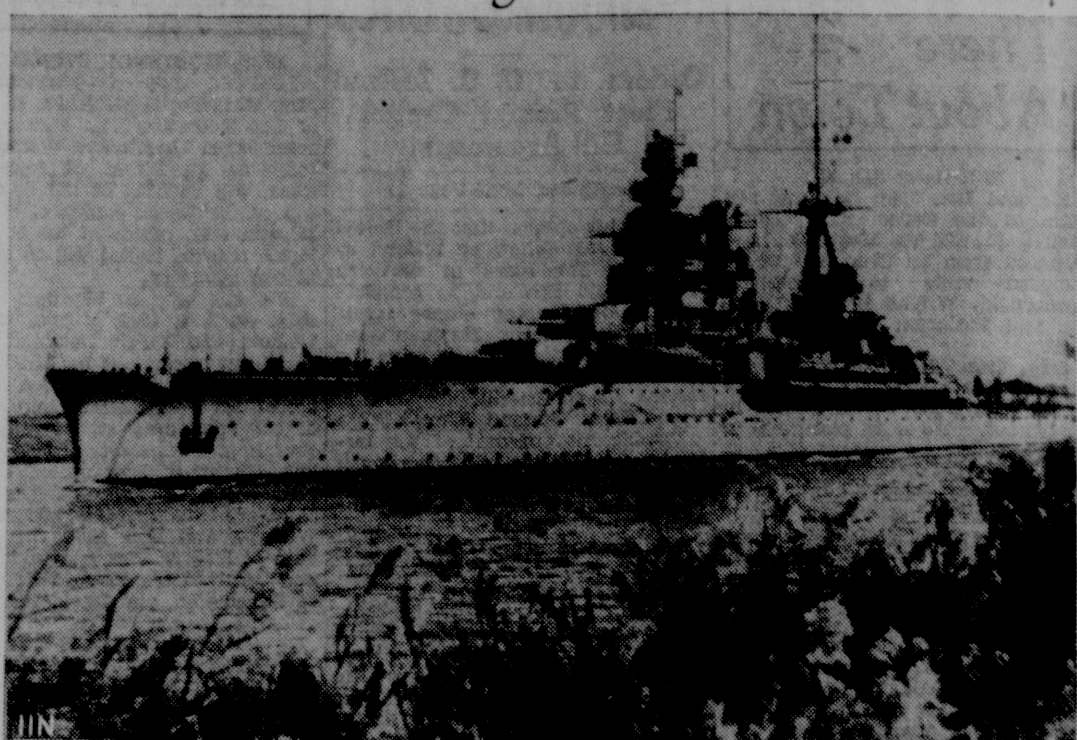

AN AIRFIELD, SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND, July 10.—American-built military planes are in better than or compare favorably with the best British-made aircraft, say the test pilots who have given them "the works" at altitudes as high as 39,000 feet.
American warplanes brought these reports from British test pilots.

The four-motored B17C Boeing bomber is definitely better than the new British Sterling and Halifax of comparable size. The Boeing can do 305 miles per hour with a four-ton bomb load.
The Douglas DB7, two-motored night pursuit ship, is "the heaviest armed fighter in the world" and one of the fastest big planes ever made. It can do about 350 M.P.H.
Comparing favorably with anything the British can put in the air are a large number of four-motored consolidated and twin-engine Martin bombers, and Douglas and Vought Sikorsky dive bombers.

BERLIN, July 10.—German sources reported that 44 British planes were shot down in the British aerial offensive against Germany and German-occupied territory yesterday, last night and today.

BUDAPEST, July 10.—The Hungarian high command asserted today that 25,000 prisoners had been taken in the advance into Galicia, southwestern Russia, in which "Hungarian troops fought at the side of German troops."
The daily communiqué reported for the second day that the Hungarians were still attacking along

British Claim Sinking of This Italian Cruiser

British naval power apparently has wiped out all of the Zara class of four cruisers launched by the Italians in 1930 and 1931 if a report that the Gorizia, last of the four, was sunk by a British submarine in the Mediterranean, is true. The cruisers, carrying normal complements of 705 men, were armed with eight 8-inch guns, a dozen 3.9-inch guns and 18 anti-aircraft pieces. The Gorizia is pictured above.

Castles Of Lush Movie Days Sell For Fraction Of Cost

HOLLYWOOD, July 9.—(The Special News Service)—The fact that Rudolph Valentino, "the great lover," once lived in an eerie-looking castle called Falcon Lair may bring "Oh's" and "ah's" from a bus load of tourists, but it isn't worth a dime when it comes to selling the place.
That's why the stone mansion through which the mysterious Rudy once swept in trailing robes can be bought for a sixth of the $150,000 it cost.
And the same thing goes, sometimes more so, for the scores of other palaces the mighty of movieland threw together in a race to outdo each other 20 years ago.
They are white elephants, huge ones.
Too Expensive
Take the word of Guy Price, movie columnist turned real estate agent. Price entered most of them socially in the old days, but for a dozen years he has been selling them.
"They're such rambling expensive things that few people want them any more," he says. "Time was when there was some glamour connected with a star's name, but that's past."
The mansion that William Dunham built when he was important in films, sold the other day for six cents on each dollar it cost. Fred Niblo, who made "Ben Hur," put $444,000 into his estate. It sold recently for $55,000—less than Niblo paid for the land.
The craze for big houses—18 to 20 rooms with almost as many baths—started soon after the war and lasted nearly a decade, with the property market climbing every minute. Every manner of mansion, from monstrosity to good solid residence, was thrown together.
There was the weird home a pair of newly rich brother-producers built. One of its features was a rope ladder, only means of travel from first to second floor.
At the other end of the scale are solid structures still occupied by Cecil B. DeMille and Harold Lloyd. DeMille's, which set him back some $750,000, still is a show-place and social center.
So is Lloyd's famous million-dollar mansion. But the servants' staff has been cut in half.
Tax Cut Refused
Lloyd told the board of equalization last year that taxes and upkeep totaled $48,000 annually. Pleading unsuccessfully for a reduction in assessed valuation from $280,000 to $170,000, he remarked: "I do not believe that anyone

Woke Up Feeling as Tired As When He Went To Bed. Very Nervous and Stomach Was In a Constant Sour Condition. Bothered With Nightly Rising and Denied Good Sleep

MR. MANUEL SHUMAN

When tormented by irritated bladder, backache, getting up nights, scanty, burning passages and lowered vitality due to functional kidney trouble; you want effective relief as fast as possible. That's why TON JON No. 3 has created such a sensation. It is a grand formula that has helped millions of men and women. It helps kidneys purify blood of excess poisons and acids, enabling such weakened kidneys to work better so you enjoy life more.

"I suffered with awful backaches and when I would get up in the mornings I would feel as tired as when going to bed," states Mr. Manuel Shuman living at 3049 Washington street, Bellaire, Ohio, employed by the Rail and River Coal Co., and a Methodist church member.

"I had a feeling more or less like a rusty hinge in my back, extremely stiff and sore. I would feel a little better after I worked for awhile, limbering up my joints and muscles. I was off from work for 10 months and my condition seemed to grow steadily worse I could hardly do a day's work when I started back because my back was so sore and weak. I was denied good sleep to disturbing nightly risings.

Short-wave radio

BRIDGES THE GAP!

Special short-wave radio transmitters and receivers, designed for instant use in emergencies, are giving extra protection to Ohio's telephone system at a time when reliable communication is so necessary to the defense activity. Compact and portable, this radio equipment can easily be rushed by truck to the scene of disaster when flood, wind or sleet strike. In a moment, it's ready to provide a temporary communication channel to join the ends of a broken line so that urgent calls can go through while construction crews are busy repairing the damage. Ohio's equipment is part of a nation-wide radio emergency system that can be concentrated quickly at the scene of a major disaster.

This emergency radio equipment is one of many precautions being taken to safeguard essential telephone service for its big job as a vital link in the national defense program.

SPACE IS HUNTED BY WHEAT FARMERS

Kansas Growers May Have To Pile Part of Crop In Open Fields

(By Associated Press)
KANSAS CITY, July 10.—Halfway through harvesting, Kansas wheat farmers face for the second time this year a threat of having to pile part of their 1941 crop in open fields.

The first threat passed when railroads rushed a sizeable quantity of box cars from eastern defense jobs to relieve an impending shortage that had endangered the movement of grain to market.

The second developed as the Kansas City board of trade told farmers yesterday this city's elevators—forming the largest primary hard winter wheat terminal in the nation—could accept no more grain for storage or loan purposes except by prearrangement.

A vast percentage of the wheat shipped here and to other markets this year is storage bound. Farmers want government loans—which at Kansas City are $1.10 on No. 2 hard—and anticipate higher prices in the future.

W. R. Scott, board secretary, said 33,500,000 bushels of grain now are in storage here. And 5,140 cars ready for unloading, he said, would fill all available storage space except for bins accommodating two million bushels, absolute minimum needed for smooth handling of all grain up for sale.

Traders visualized farmers seeking space in smaller terminals and on farms, but said such facilities probably would provide only a partial solution.

Eighty per cent of the received grain, said Scott, is headed for storage. Federal estimates place the 1941 Kansas harvest at 189 million bushels, second largest yield since 1932. Last year's production of 124 million bushels left a huge carryover to complicate the problem.

Meanwhile, in Washington it was reported the United States was ready to sponsor an international agreement as the most practical method for controlling the production and marketing of the western hemisphere's wheat or other farm crops.

Proposal Prepared
A proposal for such an agreement on wheat, it was said, has been prepared for submission to the conference of major wheat surplus countries which opened here today under auspices of the state department.

Argentina, Australia, Canada and the United States were represented at the conference as the big surplus wheat producing countries, and the United Kingdom participated as a major importing country.

The United States, authoritative sources reported, had decided that an international agreement—similar to those which have been successful in tin, rubber and coffee—offered the more feasible approach to the surplus problem.

An international agreement along the lines to be advocated by this country would provide for an "equitable" division of the available world export markets among surplus-producing countries, a production control program in each of the surplus countries patterned after the American AAA plan, and an "ever-normal granary" reserve supply in each country for use in event of crop failure.

Troop Maneuvers
NEW CUMBERLAND, Pa.—Mike Sisic was plenty worried when he showed up late at his draft board and found his fellow selectees already departed. Undaunted he sped to Pittsburgh in his car but arrived too late to catch the se-lectee train.

So, still filled with worry, Mike dug down in his jeans and bought a ticket on the next train. He arrived at the army reception center here a picture of woe to learn he was ahead of the others. And it cost him $7.

Cattle Sale Record
WOOSTER, July 10.—Sale of 68
Guernsey cows, 62 of them registered, by Ward Ramseyer of neighboring Smithville for more than $11,000 was revealed today.
It was the largest sale of the kind in Wayne county history. Buyer was the Sheffield Farms, Inc., of Pompton, N. J.

End School Board Row WELLSVILLE, July 10.—The board of education today ended a two-month deadlock over an appointment to fill a member vacancy by selecting William L.
Branch, bank manager, to succeed
Leon Mertz, resigned.

Exempted from Dues
COLUMBUS, July 10.—A resolution exempting members in the nation's armed forces from paying dues was approved by delegates to the International Order of Odd Fellows' annual encampment, which ends here today.

Crushed by Falling Rocks ZANESVILLE, July 10.—A fall of rock at the Holbein Coal company mine near Fultonham killed Joseph Pace, 59, of Redfield, Perry county.

Drowns In Mahoning
YOUNGSTOWN, July 10.—James Edward Dykes, 48, failed in his attempt to swim across the Mahoning river here and was drowned.

Killed In Fall from Loft
CINCINNATI, July 10.—A 50-foot fall from a loft where he was attempting to kill Joseph Ratz, 52, Harrison farmer.

WHITE SOX OWNER BACKS UP MANAGER

CHICAGO, July 10.—Mrs. Grace R. Comiskey, owner-president of the Chicago White Sox, said today that Manager Jimmy Dykes, indefinitely suspended and publicly "spanked" by American League President Will Harridge, will be "backed to the limit by our office" in the squabble which grew out of his run-in last Saturday with Umpire Steve Basil.

"Jimmy is a snappy manager," said Mrs. Comiskey, who has not talked to Dykes since Harridge issued the suspension order last Sunday. "That's the kind we want. Why, if John McGraw were around today and in the American league he'd be out of the game every day if they're going to handle things in this way."

Harridge, back at his Chicago office after the All-Star game in Detroit, declined to comment on Mrs.
Comiskey's statements. His ruling, one of the most severe ever issued against a major league manager, criticized Dykes for "obscene and abusive language against Basil and said 'he will remain under suspension until he can satisfy the American league office that in the future he will fall in line with the seven other managers in conducting himself and his club on the field.'"

Harridge said he has had no word from Dykes, due back late today from a Minnesota clinic, where he underwent a physical checkup.
The White Sox tonight are scheduled to play Washington and likely will be in charge of Coach Harold (Muddy) Ruel.

SOLONS SPLIT ON SHOOTING STATUS

Orders to U. S. Iceland
Fleet Prompt Capitol
Hill Arguments

It was his opinion that the United States should follow up Iceland by arranging for bases in northern Ireland and Scotland to complete an arc of stepping stones across the North Atlantic. He mentioned this in connection with keeping the sea lanes open and furnishing effective aid to Britain.

Halls German Threat Voicing his approval of the Iceland move, Wilkie told reporters it was necessary "particularly in view of the German threat to take" the island.

Wilkie had some fault to find with the production of defense materials here, contending that the program "is not effectively coordinated and it needs a single head."

Elsewhere in the capital, the Iceland discussion found Senators Taft (R., Ohio) and Pepper (D., Fla.) at loggerheads. The latter, Senator Wheeler deserved reproach for his advance forecast of the protective occupation.

"The United States is not at war," Taft declared. "Not only did Senator Wheeler have every right to reveal any facts about an expedition to Iceland which came to his attention, but the President of the United States had no right to conceal from the people the fact that for weeks he has been planning a secret expedition to Iceland which I believe he had no right to order."

"Mr. Churchill has no business interfering in the affairs of the United States."

Pepper, on the other hand, asserted that "undoubtedly Prime Minister Churchill reflects the concern that everybody responsible for the safety of our armed forces as well as for the national interest experiences about men in the congress who apparently regard themselves as under no responsibility with respect to disclosures of information of a military character."

Builds Bomb Shelter

CINCINNATI, July 10.—Dr. Carroll Decorey, prominent Cincinnati physician, is building a bomb shelter beneath his new home overlooking the Ohio river here. Architect George McDonald said the shelter, first to be projected here, will be a sub-basement to the home, accessible from inside the house and from a sloping front garden.

Built of reinforced concrete, the room will be 12x12 with an 8-foot ceiling. The concrete will be 20 inches thick at the base, narrowing to 12 inches at the top.

Girl Drowns at Picnic

CINCINNATI, July 10.—Swimming with a picnic party of Cincinnati friends, Patricia Strong, 16-year-old daughter of Clarence Strong of Hamilton, drowned in the Little Miami river near Milford.
Her body was recovered by boy scouts.

Boy, 3, Crushed by Truck
CLEVELAND, July 10.—Three-year-old Norbert Tancak was crushed to death under the wheels of a truck, the 65th traffic victim of the year in Cleveland.

DEATHS

MRS. ROBINSON FUNERAL

LISBON, July 10.—Services for Mrs. Margaret F. Robinson, 63, wife of Lee Robinson, who died at her home 325 S. Lincoln ave. Wednesday following an illness of complications, will be held at the home at 2 p. m. Friday in charge of Rev. J.
Morgan Cox, pastor of the Presbyterian church. Burial will be in the Lisbon cemetery.

She was born in Madison township, April 1, 1878, a daughter of William and Sarah Ketchum, and had been a resident of Lisbon for the last 18 years. She was a member of the Presbyterian church and of the missionary society of the church, and a member of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union.

Surviving, in addition to the husband, are two daughters, Mrs. Victor Williams and Mrs. Nellie Lambert, both of Lisbon; four grandchildren, and two brothers, Howard Ketchum of Kensington, and David Ketchum of Mt. Lebanon, Pa.

MRS. MARY SCHAFER
Mrs. Mary Schaffer, 69, widow of William Schaffer, died at her home, 520 4th st., yesterday morning.
Born April 21, 1872, in Harriets-ville, O. Mrs. Schaffer had been a resident of Salem since 1937. Her husband and a son, Gail, died eight years ago.

She leaves a daughter, Mrs. How-gleckler of Akron; three sons, Harry, Dewey, Clarence of Salem;
seven grandchildren; two sisters,
Mrs. Clara LaFollette and Mrs. W.
C. Morris of Cambridge; one brother, Henry Holzschuh.

Funeral service will be conducted at 2 p. m. Saturday at the Stark Memorial in charge of Rev. John Bauman. Interment will be in Hope cemetery. Friends may call at the Memorial Friday evening.

in parliament for Lieut. Rupert Arnold Brabner, a conservative, elected a year ago.

Every morning during the eight months of army service from which he also just obtained leave, Stewart said, Middle East cables laid on his desk "cried for weapons of any and every kind."

"One had the vision of those men, comrades whom we knew, lying there battered, bleeding, parched and hungry. Thousands upon thousands of them were left there to die or fall into Nazi captivity. Why? Because those men were denied weapons with which to defend themselves."

of General Henri Dentz, the French high commissioner of Syria and Lebanon.

British general headquarters in Cairo reported new gains in Syria but made no mention of armistice negotiations or a demand for the surrender of Beirut, the Lebanese capital.

The British announced the capture of "many hundreds of Vichy troops", 17 guns, three tanks and five armored cars in seizing the French stronghold at Damour, nine miles south of Beirut.

Reuters (British) news agency said British troops had renewed hostilities when the French failed to meet a 5:30 a. m. deadline for the evacuation of Beirut pending discussion of armistice terms.

Overnight, the war in the air raged over a vast area from England to Egypt. Hitler's high command said strong Nazi bomber formations attacked the Suez canal, while Premier Mussolini's high command reported a renewal of RAF assaults on Italian cities after a lapse of many weeks.

British bombers were said to have carried out a low-level daylight raid on Syracuse, on the island of Sicily, and left a toll of 14 killed, 30 wounded at Naples on the Italian mainland.

New York "Subway Series" Looms; Yanks And Dodgers Lead

PENNANT BATTLES RESUME WITH N. Y. CLUBS WELL AHEAD

As They Say In Brooklyn, "It's Every Man For 'Himself'"

By SID FEDER, Associated Press Sports Writer.

This is the day when even the second guessers have to put the All-Star game back in the cracker barrel to save something for next winter.

Because the big leagues pick up the pennant chase again today and tonight, and from here on, it's every man for himself as they say over in Brooklyn. They're also saying in Flatbush that there's nothing can stop the Dodgers now in the National league.

And, if that's the case—with the daffiness boys leading the Cardinals by three full games—it begins to look like the chances for the first "subway series" in four years are as bright as the nickel you'll need to get from Yankee stadium to Ebbets field.

For, as the American league's eastern clubs begin their third swing through the west, the New York Yankees are the hottest thing to come down the pike since the Yankees were burning up the place a couple of years ago.

Win Nine Straight
Riding a nine-game winning streak and 3½ games out in front of the pack, the Bombers from the Bronx wheel out their stuff in St. Louis tonight. They're top-heavy favorites to win this one—which would make it 10 victories in their last 18 outings—so the chief interest centers around whether Joe DiMaggio gets a hit to run his all-time record streak to 49 straight games.

At the same time, Cleveland's second-place Indians pick a soft touch in the Athletics to open their home stand, while Boston's Red Sox bring a four-game winning run into Detroit and Washington invades Chicago. In that Detroit tussle, Old Moose Grove, who is running out his string now, will be gunning for the magical 300th victory of his grand career, while at Cleveland the Tribe tries to hit the high road again after only breaking even in its last 12 starts.

The card also finds the Cardinals invading the Polo grounds to meet the Giants and the Phillies entertaining the Pittsburgh Pirates in Philadelphia.

Most important get-together in the senior circuit, however, has the Cincinnati Reds, who have won three of their last four tussles—two straight against St. Louis—tangling with the Dodgers in Brooklyn under the sun.

14-Year-Old Akron Girl Leads Netters

INDIANAPOLIS, July 10.—Miss Shirley Fry, 14-year-old bundle of energy from Akron, O., was shooting for her second big upset victory of the western tennis tournament women's singles today in a quarter-final match against second-seeded Dorothy Bundy, Santa Monica, Calif.

The Ohio youngster, a 6-4, 9-7 victor yesterday over Doris Hart, Miami, seeded No. 5, was paired against Miss Bundy in the last of the quarter-final meetings.

The only other upset in yesterday's play on the Woodstock Country club courts was George Ball's conquest of seventh seeded Gardner Larned of Chicago. The El Paso, Tex., boy gained the semi-final with a 2-6, 8-6, 6-1 performance.

Top seeded Don McNeill of Oklahoma City downed Jack McLeod, Indianapolis, 6-1, 6-2.

RECREATION, CHINA WIN IN CITY LOOP

Saxons Depart Near End Of Fifth Inning In Game With Recs

The Recreation scored a 2-1 win over the Saxons in a brief Class A game at Centennial park last night, brief because the Saxons walked off the field, with the Recreation at bat and two men out, in the fifth. They thought the inning was over. The Saxons scored first when Gus Falk hit a triple while leading off in the third and later scored on a sacrifice bunt by a brother, Julius. The Recreation then tied it up in the fourth with a double by Myers and a single by Sanders. The winning Recreation run came in the fifth on singles by Primm and Kelley and a passed ball.

Mohr's home run in the third with one on gave the Salem China an early lead and an eventual win over the Sanitary, 4-1, in the second game last night. K. Brudery, on the mound for the winners, allowed the Sanitary only three safe hits.

Guldahl Leads PGA Tourney; "Natural" Battles Loom In Ohio State Women's Matches

(By Associated Press)

AKRON, July 10.—Two natural battles were on tap today in the semi-final round of the annual Ohio State Women's golf tournament, with slugger meeting slugger and stylist playing stylist.

The upper-bracket match paired the tourney's longest hitters, Mrs. James R. Platt, Jr., of Dayton, and Neoma Copie of Toledo, while Janet Shock of Dayton, the defending champion, and Mrs. Linton Fallis of Toledo, both form exponents, clashed in the lower bracket.

The four teed off for another 18 holes after the greatest quarter-final matches in the 22-year history of the tournament.

Miss Shock had the hardest time advancing, being carried to the home green to turn back the challenge of Mary Ann Herron, 19-year-old Akron star.

Below-par Golf

Mr. Platt, tournament medalist, stood off 20-year-old Martha Dakin of Lebanon, to earn her advantage while Miss Copie, one-time holder of the Ohio State Public Links championship, unleashed a barrage of sub-par golf to down Dorothy Gardner of Steubenville, 2 and 1.

The gray-haired Mrs. Fallis, winner of the Ohio diadem in 1939, outgamed Miss Isabel Ogilvie, Cleveland's champion, 2 and 1.

The blonde Copie girl staged the greatest rally of yesterday. Battled on even terms by the Steubenville beauty for 12 holes, she cut loose with two pars and an eagle on the 13th, 14th and 15th to go down three and clinch the victory. Miss Gardner was a pre-meet favorite.

The semi-finalists are old rivals. Miss Shock took a big step toward her first Ohio state championship here in 1938 when she scored a 19-hole decision over Mrs. Fallis. The next year the Toledoan beat her 2 and 1 in the semi-finals at Columbus.

Mrs. Platt and Miss Copie have met on the Toledo golf course a 2 and 1 quarter final verdict at Toledo.

BROOKS AND CARDS START IMPORTANT 3-GAME SERIES

Games Will Show Whether Reds Can Grab Chance Or Be "Also Rans"

BROOKLYN, July 10.—The Cincinnati Reds and Brooklyn Dodgers today open a three-game series which will just about determine whether the world champions of 1940 will retain a chance for a third National league pennant or become also-rans.

Bucky Walters, who has a 2-2 record against the Dodgers, may be Manager Bill McKechnie's pitching choice against Brooklyn's Hugh Casey, big right-hander whose record of nine victories against five losses include four triumphs over the Reds in as many meetings. Walters will be after his 11th victory in 17 starts.

Considering the sizzling pace of the Dodgers, it's almost foolhardy to talk of a clean sweep for last year's champions, but if they can get it Cincinnati will still be a pennant contender.

Three victories over Brooklyn would cut the Reds' deficit to eight games for the last half of the season; and last year they picked up nine on the Dodgers over that period.

CHAPTER I

Anthony Worth, Jr., was hunting for a job, not venture, when he sank down wearily beside a shabby stranger in Washington Square. Sometimes a fellow gets tired of grinning and taking it on the chin, and wonders if a break will ever come. Tony was wondering just that, and the bright June morning made him feel worse. Girls were farthest from his mind as he turned his smoke-gray eyes on the down-and-out. Another poor fellow licked by life and consoled by Bowery booze.

The stranger was taking it easy, dozing on a cushion of newspapers. Tony's glance flickered downwards. Ironically enough, the top page was the society news. The slack-jointed figure of the derelict sprawled half over the centered photograph of a girl around whom were inserted sketches of palm trees, a silver of sea, and a yacht. He recognized her type!

"Tony muttered angrily, 'Same old stuff!' But he bent closer, irritated because the girl's face was hidden from view. Then, suddenly, he laughed as whimsy moved him to reflect: 'Guess it's the first time that lady's ever been sat on by a real tramp!' He tried to feel amused, but it made him sore. It was her fault. It probably never entered her silly head what happened to papers, once they were thrown away."

He didn't need to see her face. He could tell her type: A de luxe gal set among gadgets such as yachts. Tony's frown lingered on the cut of her sporty linen suit, the turn of her wrist and ankle. Well, he was done with that sort of thing.

Tony looked abruptly away into the sunny spaces of the Square, dotted with plump buses and noisy children. He was on edge today, and that gal exasperated his discontent with the world. The Park Avenue breed was nothing new to him; he wouldn't buy a matted milk for one of those debs. Three years of Harvard, then law school, and plenty of so-called fun on the side, had given him his fill.

The past year had toughened him, he supposed. It was a sour way to start life; not being able to help financially after his father's business crash; not being able to get on with his career. He ought to conquer that infernal pride of his which had kept him away from all his old friends—all of them except good old Ed Keeler, whose couch and bathroom were life-savers. Perhaps some day he'd qualify, and work beside Ed in the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

"You ought to get going, he thought. 'You're slipping, my lad! But he was in no hurry to tackle another round of offices with biased receptionists barring his way, even when he wore what he jeerily called his passport suit. He had it on today, a gray sack suit draped by his one-time Fifth Avenue tailor. As Tony slowly got to his feet, a nearby child started howling over a scratched knee. The noise woke the tramp. A cop was sauntering toward him.

"Ain't there any peace in this world?" the old fellow whined, gathering up his papers, ready to move on.

"Hey!" Tony impulsively fished a dime from the scanty supply in his pocket. "Want to sell those papers?"

"It's a deal, Brother." And he pushed the crumpled pile at Tony, grabbed the coin and shuffled off. Tony sat down again. He much be nuts to part with the price of coffee and doughnuts to save the picture of that girl—well, from traveling further in such company. He didn't look at the paper for a moment, but when he did, he almost flung it from him. Of all the jokes on him, this was tops!

He'd drawn Marie Schuyler for his dime! Her deb year had been one succession of headlines; he had avoided her like the plague. She was just an exhibitionist doing a strip tease with her millions; another spoiled brat flying all over the country in search of excitement.

Tony Worth's society page reverie on a park bench

His fingers crisped the edge of the sheet as he glared down at her.

Tony was probably the only man, on the New York hostesses' dance lists, who hadn't met her and shared in her escapades. She must be twenty now—quite old for the deb set! She hadn't changed much from other photographs he'd seen. A beauty, all right! Her wide-set eyes seemed to be mocking him right now.

Tony scowled at a column devoted to her doings. So she was cruising around Greece, poor little orphan, on the ocean-going yacht her father had left her with a provision for its upkeep! And, apparently, aside from Eve Pryne—as a chaperone—that was a laugh!—and Ray Sheldon (whoever he was), her guests were a bunch of titled foreigners.

"Crazy—cock-eyed—!" Tony tore the page in strips so that no one else could use it, tossed them into a refuse can, and walked away, his mouth grim.

With fuses smouldering near every nation's boundary lines, how could anyone responsible for her— if anyone was—leave her loose? Who were those present playmates—the Marchese Lippi, Sir (was it?) Felix Norheim, Captain (or, was it, Major) Eric Thelme?

You didn't need much imagination to realize what an American heiress would be worth to unscrupulous persons over there. She'd be pure gold to certain powers if she married into one of their factions. Any fool knew the propaganda that was going on, to get hold of American money, American influence. Laying herself open to it was the sort of stunt Marie Schuyler would pull!

Mechanically, Tony walked to Sixth Avenue, swinging into Waverly Place. He was upset—amazingly upset; in no state to hunt a job. He wanted to be alone in Keeler's comfortably untidy, small living-room. Ed wouldn't be home, of course, but Tony had a key.

But Ed Keeler was home, his carotid head and huge shoulders bent over the telephone. When Tony stepped in, Ed shouted over the wire, "Here he is! We're on our way."

Keeler was a heavy man, over two hundred pounds to Tony's one hundred eighty. But he bounced up, light as a ballet dancer on his feet, towering two inches above Tony's six feet. "Holy smoke, where have you been?" he demanded. "Something big has turned up."

Tony Worth stared. "Idling in the park," he said. "Idling any more, my lad." Ed was still shouting. "You're going—" He checked himself, and grew mysterious. "Right now, we're paying a little visit to the boss."

"That suits me," Tony grinned in his old light-hearted way, burdens rolling off him. This might be his lucky day after all. If it hadn't been for the tramp, and Marie's photograph that had got him into such a stew, he would have been tramping the streets as usual. Ed Keeler turned his back, his voice wary yet triumphant. "Judge Fairchild dropped in to see the Chief this morning. They're old pals. But this was a business visit. He needed advice badly."

Judge Fairchild was one of the law's big luminaries. Tony's heart

Wife Got Fat-- No Longer Attractive LOST HUSBAND'S LOVE

The above headlines appeared in a New York newspaper in connection with a divorce trial that had attracted wide attention: "She was a beautiful woman" one witness testified, "but she got fat and is not attractive any more."

Thousands of women are getting fat and losing their appeal just because they do not know what to do. If you are fat, how would you like to lose some of it and at the same time gain in physical charm and attractiveness—more energy—greater activity?

Why not do what thousands of women have done to get rid of pounds of unwanted fat? Take ½ teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts (a famous English formula) in a glass of hot water every morning before breakfast and keep it up for thirty days. Cut out pastries and fatty meats and go light on white bread, potatoes, butter and cream. Then weigh yourself and see how many pounds you have lost.

A bottle of Kruschen Salts will last you 4 weeks and costs but little. Ask any druggist for a bottle of Kruschen, plain or new effervescent—sparkling—pleasant—and start today to lose fat. Satisfaction guaranteed or money back.

thudded. He hid his excitement and, raising a dark eyebrow, said "So what?"

Ed answered with, "So you can thank your stars I hung around. We're pretty well fed up with spy scares and a lot of mush from alarmists. But when the old gentleman mentioned a few names, in connection with something else, I thought of you as a natural for the job."

"Job!" Tony jumped to his feet. That one word was all that mattered. "Gosh! If he'd appoint me to his court, I'd get somewhere. You really think there's a chance?"

Ed shook his head. "You're way off. But it's a long story. Come on—let's be going."

Tony clouded over as Keeler clapped on a disreputable brown felt and hustled him out. They clattered down the imitation marble steps of the old apartment house, before Ed spoke again. "Ever hear of Felix Norheim?"

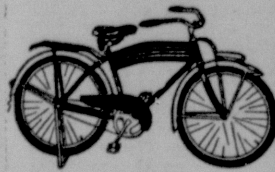

Tony creased his brows. Where had he recently seen that name?

Ed didn't wait for an answer. He set a faster pace, heading west. He

He had his doubts, about the wisdom of such a course, so he came to the Boss. He didn't know which way to turn, he said. And he's too darn worried to think straight. But —ch boy, would he have made a mistake if he put this in!"

Keeler thrust a slip of paper at Tony without slackening his stride. "I told him about you."

Tony glanced down and whistled. "Hot cakes!" He read the thing twice. It was written in a scholarly hand, with a P. O. number tagged on for answers that would have deluged the mails:

"Gentleman wanted for special service. Highest references required."
